

A Forwardian Photographer

Beth Hewitt

Beth is an amateur freelance photographer. She has been married for 35 years and has two grown children. Originally from New York State, she has lived in the Pocono area for over 25 years. Many of her photographs are taken during her hikes on the many trails in the Poconos as well as her trips around the country. She enjoys finding the trails that are not well traveled and off the beaten path. If you see her on a hike, most likely you will find her crawling on the ground or hanging from a cliff for that perfect shot.

We are honored to present her work titled, “Bassman.”

You’ll be able to read her work in Sections G of our magazine through our link at: www.theforwardianartssociety.com/Forwardian-3-Contents.html.
